

- smoke
- drink
- eat
- shoes on/off
- enter/leave apartment
- enter/leave grad studio
- walk
- listen to music
- turn on/off iPod
- turn on/off laptop
- turn on/off desktop
- open a software app
- check email
- write email
- print something
- make/receive phonecall
- talk to a prof
- talk to a classmate
- talk to emily
- talk to a stranger
- use an appliance
- use the bathroom
- wash my hands
- look in the mirror
- throw something away
- buy something
- read printed material
- go to class
- write something
- laugh

Tired/Sleeping
 Happy
 Irritated
 Thinking/Thoughtful
 Sad

I hate trying to wake up. I feel good, my project is going well. Yuck. I got sweaty walking to campus. It's a beautiful day. Class is going well, it's interesting today. Tough concepts, though. I'm tired. Class was hard on my brain. I registered for an experiment: money! I made eight bucks, but my arms hurt now. How am I going to get this poster printed in time? I'm not feeling as good about things as I was. So tired. Maybe just a short... nap... I feel much better now! This homework reading is cool. I'm glad I'm finally updating my blog. I love talking to Gary. Bed time.

- Chains of causation/interaction related to smoking.
- Chains of causation/interaction related to eating or drinking.
- Chains of causation/interaction related to changing physical location.
- Chains of causation/interaction related to opening a software application.
- Chains of causation/interaction related to a phone call.
- Chains of causation/interaction related to a class.
- Chains of causation/interaction related to buying something.
- Chains of causation/interaction related to using the restroom.